Attachment I: 2022 Business Report

We herewith report our business status for fiscal year 2022 and business outlook for fiscal year 2023, as follows:

1. FY 2022 Business Status

The multifunction printer market in China underwent drastic changes throughout 2022. Continuing from the previous year, the global semiconductor shortage persisted in the first quarter, and production was limited due to critical component quotas. In the second quarter, China's efforts to control the spread of COVID-19 caused logistics disruptions and delayed demand for office equipment procurement. In the third quarter, the semiconductor shortage gradually eased, China's lockdown measures were relaxed, and previously suppressed procurement demand rebounded. Additionally, one of the major brands had supply shortages due to a factory sale, intellectual property disputes, and labor issues. This resulted in a supply gap, and various brands aggressively ramped up production and increased orders, leading to significant market growth. In the fourth quarter, China initially implemented strict lockdown measures, which were later lifted after the White Paper Revolution. However, the subsequent outbreak, lack of medications, logistical disruptions, and blockages in distribution channels led to a conservative market trend. According to a Key Research report, the total sales of multifunction printers in China decreased by 9.9% in 2022 compared to the previous year.

In response to the changes in the multifunction printer market in 2022, TECO is committed to stable production and supply. This includes pre-ordering and scheduling key electronic components, changing product designs to replace bottleneck components, and securing delivery channels from key module suppliers during lockdowns and logistics disruptions.

During periods of significant order growth, the company also worked hard to secure quotas from European semiconductor manufacturers. The company's total revenue for the year decreased by 3% compared to the previous year.

But our industrial color inkjet printers, label printers, cutting plotters, and other product lines which are mainly sold to the European and American markets gradually grew in 2022. Revenue share increased from 10% in the previous year to 16%. With continued improvements in production yield and ongoing replacement of bottleneck electronic components, future growth prospects are promising.

We reached overall net operating revenues of NTD 1.72 billion in 2022, with an achievement rate of approximately 87.8% of the revenue budget. After-tax net income was NTD 64 million, and after-tax earnings per share were NTD 0.81.

(1) The results of implementing our business plan and profit analysis are as follows:

Unit: NT$1'000s

| Item | Y2022 | Y2021 | Growth rate |
|------------------------------|-----------|-----------|-------------|
| Net operating revenues | 1,722,767 | 1,771,373 | -2.7% |
| Gross profit | 256,505 | 299,617 | -14.4% |
| Net income attributable to | 64,384 | 51,826 | 24.23% |
| owners of the parent company | | | |

(2) Revenue and profit and loss performance:

NT$1.77 billion in FY2021. Gross profit for the year declined by NT$43 million in 2021, mostly attributable to insufficient production capacity for new products, and poor efficiency in direct labor, so gross profit margin decreased by 2% compared to 2021. Changes in operating expenses decreased by 6% compared to the previous year, mainly due to a reduction in annual employee costs, labor costs, and share servicing expenses. Non-operating income and expenses increased by NTD 58 million compared to the same period last year, mainly due to an increase of NTD 50 million in equity method accounted for associated companies and joint venture income in FY2022 compared to FY 2021. After considering the above items, the net profit after tax for FY2022 was NTD 64 million, an increase of 25.5% compared to NTD 51 million in FY 2021.

(3) Research and development status:

Looking back over 2021, in addition to addressing material shortage issues and introducing substitute materials for various products in production, we have also simultaneously carried out diverse activities to enhance our business machine functions, introduce and verify UV spray painting technology, establish unmanned aerial vehicle (UAV) payload platforms, develop 3D printing post-processing techniques (such as dyeing, color uniformity, hybrid design, and weight reduction design), and establish a new platform for future system control. The main achievements are as follows:

A. Business machine section:

In addition to reducing production risks by introducing substitute materials, new models that replace chip functions with firmware have been successfully launched. In addition, we have obtained new customer projects and carried out performance upgrades, with the new models expected to be mass-produced in Q2 of 2023. Furthermore, the proposed plan to increase printing speed has received attention from customers based on preliminary verification results. We are expecting to formally kick off in Q2 of 2023, ensuring competitiveness in business machines and revenue/profit for the next two years.

B. Industrial cutting and spray painting machine section:

The outsourced production of industrial cutting machines has completed the first stage of optimization and stable shipments of quality products. We continue to discuss production and joint development opportunities for the next generation of cutting machines and wide-format printers with our customers. In addition, the ODM color industrial label printer has undergone product optimization design and is expected to be officially introduced in March 2023, ensuring future revenue and profits. Furthermore, the proposed UV spray painting solution has also been well-received by clients. We will continue to discuss with customers to obtain development opportunities for the next generation of cutting machines, color label printers, and wide-format printers for applications in the textile market.

C. 3D printing production section:

After years of development and promotion, we have successfully obtained orders for 3D printing from over 35 customers using TIS's 3D printing technology. In addition, we have received feedback from customers regarding weight reduction design for UAVs and have thus obtained opportunities to cooperate with UAV manufacturers to develop such designs.

D. UAV development section:

Together with 3D printing lightweight design, we have completed 7kg and 24.9kg UAV payload platforms that can be used for training, inspection, search and rescue, firefighting, environmental monitoring, and much more. Through these development achievements and pilot certification, we have obtained opportunities to produce 3D printed UAV parts and are discussing opportunities to assemble UAVs at our Guanyin factory with customers.

E. UAV development section:

Facing uncertainties caused by the pandemic and material shortages, our Guanyin factory has continued to optimize production processes and has received customer recognition for high-quality product shipments.

In summary, in 2023, we will focus on:

A. Build a new controller platform: Build a unified platform for business machines, industrial cutters and airbrush printers

The new controller platform can be applied not only to the business machines of our existing Japanese customers, but also to industrial cutting machines, industrial labeling and wide format printers. With the advantages of the controller, we can obtain opportunities to cooperate with overseas manufacturers for joint development.

B. 3D Printing Applications: Continuously applying to production products and expanding metal printing applications

After years of promotion, 3D printing technology has been proven to be applicable to end products with short delivery time and development cost savings. In addition to the application of 3D printing on plastics, in the future we will continue to promote the application and marketing of metal printing. It is expected that 3D printing will have considerable advantages in the production of drones, industrial printers, and clamping devices and jaws required for factory automation.

C. Drone system integration: electromechanical integration and automatic navigation

We will focus on firmware engineering, system integration of software ground monitoring systems, and automatic navigation in order to utilize our system integration capabilities and differentiate ourselves from other companies in the market.

D. Guanyin Factory introduction of collaborative arm machine production.

In the coming year, the manufacturing team will focus on introducing collaborative robots to work with operators in the production of products. The collaboration between ASD staff and robots will not only solve the perennial labor shortage problem in Taiwan, but also improvestability of product production, improve product quality, and reduce production costs.

2. Business outlook for FY2023

In the face of the changes in the environment in 2023, with the war in Russia and the Ukraine, inflation and raw material prices still high, we must pay attention to changes in the environment and be cautious in addressing them. As a hedge, we are taking advantage of the loosening production capacity of key electronic components to increase our one-year safety stock. At the same time, we are evaluating alternative materials for key electronic components, so that we can give priority to those that are far away from our competitors in automotive production, and increase our supply to reduce the impacts of material shortages.

Looking ahead to this year, it is an opportune moment for us to stabilize the foundation of our expansion in new fields in the past few years and prepare for the harvest time. This year, in addition to 3D printing production technology, we have also increased the number of drones with 3D printing lightweight design, and have successfully introduced folding drones, agricultural spraying drones, inspection and detection drones, and training drones. We have also developed UV printers, wide format printers, and UAV 3D printing bodies, and assembled them for OEM.

We would like to thank all the shareholders of TIS for your long term understanding and support! Fortunately, the epidemic is now under control, and we look forward to the impact of the epidemic ending as soon as possible in 2023. However, unresolved geopolitical issues, wars, and rising interest rates remain, so as we address a conservative overall environment, we will be more cautious in facing future challenges this year. TECO can promise you that we are indeed prepared to meet these challenges.

Finally, on behalf of the Board of Directors, we would like to express our sincere gratitude to all our shareholders and colleagues at TIS as we look forward to your continuing support and encouragement.

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Teco Image Systems Co., Ltd.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Teco Image Systems Co., Ltd. and its subsidiaries (the "Group") as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, of changes in equity and of cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, based on our audits and the reports of other auditors (please refer to other matter section of our report), the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. Based on our audits and the reports of other auditors, we believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Group's 2022 consolidated financial statements. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole and, in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Group's 2022 consolidated financial statements are stated as follows:

資減聯合會計師事務所 PricewaterhouseCoopers, Taiwan 110208 臺北市信義區基隆路一段 333 號 27 樓 27F, No. 333, Sec. 1, Keelung Rd., Xinyi Dist., Taipei 110208, Taiwan T: +886 (2) 2729 6666, F:+ 886 (2) 2729 6686, www.pwc.tw

Valuation of inventories

Description

For accounting policies adopted for the valuation of inventories, please refer to Note 4(13). For the significant judgements applied in the accounting policies adopted for the valuation of inventories, please refer to Note 5(2). For details of inventories, please refer to Note 6(5).

Before producing new types of multiple-function printers, the Group will prepare sufficient materials based on the sales forecast. If the actual sales are lower than the expected results, the materials in storage will be excessive and be consumed slowly. The Group estimates net present value of inventories on the balance sheet date, and then writes down inventory cost to net present value. As the valuation of inventories involve judgements, and the valuation amounts are material, we identified the valuation of inventories as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in relation to the key audit matter:

- 1. Obtained the policies for inventory valuation and determined whether the policies applied in provision of allowance for inventory valuation losses in the different periods are in agreement.
- Performed physical inventory count at the end of period to identify whether there are obsolete, damaged or unsalable inventories.
- 3. Obtained aging statements for each kind of inventory and tested the changes in ages of inventory. For selected samples with inventory number, we verified to changes record and expiration dates, checked the accuracy of categories inventory ages and computed the effects on inventories.
- 4. Obtained net realizable value statement of each kind of inventory and checked whether the applied calculation logic was in agreement for all inventory. Tested relevant parameters and relevant estimate document. Checked and compared allowance for valuation losses that the Group should provision at the lower of cost and net realizable value.

Existence of sales revenue

Description

For accounting policies adopted for the recognition of revenue, please refer to Note 4(29). For details of revenue, please refer to Note 6(15).

The Group mainly traded with established and reputable customers over the years. Since the changes in new top ten customers may materially affect the consolidated financial statements of the Group and sales revenue is high-risk in nature, we identified the existence of sales revenue from new top ten customers as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in relation to the key audit matter:

- 1. Understood the internal controls over sales.
- 2. Verified the appraisal report of new top ten customers by checking the relevant information.
- 3. Tested whether the credit terms of new top ten customers have been appropriately.
- 4. Obtained and verified the details of sales and relevant supporting documents.
- 5. Performed sampling confirmation procedures to new top ten customers to ascertain the existence and accuracy of the receivables.
- Obtained and verified the subsequent collections details of accounts receivable and relevant supporting documents.

Other matter - Reference to the audits of other auditors

We did not audit the financial statements of certain investments accounted for using the equity method that are included in the consolidated financial statements. The balance of investments accounted for using equity method was NT$243,602 thousand and NT$232,729 thousand, constituting 8.07% and 7.36% of the consolidated total assets as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively. The balance of comprehensive income (loss) was NT$11,911 thousand and NT($19,601) thousand for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, constituting (11.94%) and (3.51%) of the consolidated total comprehensive income (loss), respectively. Those financial statements were audited by other auditors whose reports thereon have been furnished to us, and our opinion expressed herein is based solely on the audit reports of the other auditors.

Other matter - Parent company only financial reports

We have audited and expressed an unqualified opinion with other matter paragraph on the parent company only financial statements of Teco Image Systems Co., Ltd. as at and for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance including the audit committee are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- 1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- 2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.

- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Valuation of inventories

Description

For accounting policies adopted for the valuation of inventories, please refer to Note 4(12). For the significant judgements applied in the accounting policies adopted for the valuation of inventories, please refer to Note 5(2). For details of inventories, please refer to Note 6(5).

Before producing new types of multiple-function printers, the Company will prepare sufficient materials based on the sales forecast. If the actual sales are lower than the expected results, the materials in storage will be excessive and be consumed slowly. The Company estimates net present value of inventories on the balance sheet date, and then writes down inventory cost to net present value. As the valuation of inventories involve judgements, and the valuation amounts are material, we identified the valuation of inventories as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter:

We performed the following audit procedures in relation to the key audit matter:

- 1. Obtained the policies for inventory valuation and determined whether the policies applied in provision of allowance for inventory valuation losses in the different periods are in agreement.
- Performed physical inventory count at the end of period to identify whether there are obsolete, damaged or unsalable inventories.
- 3. Obtained aging statements for each kind of inventory and tested the changes in ages of inventory. For selected samples with inventory number, we verified to changes record and expiration dates, checked the accuracy of classification range of inventory ages and valued the effects on inventories.
- 4. Obtained net realizable value statement of each kind of inventory and checked whether the applied calculation logic was in agreement for all inventory. Tested relevant parameters and relevant estimate document. Checked and compared allowance for valuation losses that the Company should provision at the lower of cost and net realizable value.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists.

Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- 1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
